About Fulltone Photo

In 1939, Philip Clements started Fullton with the development of Black and White film in his basement. By 1955, the business had grown so much that a facility was built on Shelby Street in Louisville. Since then, Fulltone has expanded to include all kinds of film development, becoming one of the first stores in Louisville to offer the one hour development, and make the transition from film to digital photography.

In 2013, Fullton partnered with MotoPhoto, and is now located on Westport Road in Louisville. We primarily work on the development of mail orders. Our lab is one of the few left in the U.S. to process all formats and types of film! To this day, we continue to offer the best quality film development that our lab was founded on over 70 years ago.
